Convocation on Wednesday, October 8th, was held by the Athletic Association and the President, Charlotte Patch, presented the Board to the student body. How to wear a Free Press Oct. 12th, and Secretary-Treasurer, Margaret Harwell, were already on the rostrum, with Miss Patch opened Convocation by saying that they wanted to show the Student Body the correct apparel for sports wear. The Athletic Education Department, Miss Rastoard, first to be presented, appeared in hiking costume. She wore a loose-fitting skirt and polo shirt, and her hair was shorn to show the Assistant Chairman of Hockey, Janet Stirling, wore a tunic, with a short coat over it to wear after the game. Marian Speiden, Chairman of Hockey, appeared in an alternative to the tunic, white knickers. The Campus Editor of the Sportswoman, Kay Locke, was dressed in tennis costume, a white pique dress and tennis shoes with no heels. The Chairman of Archery, Ann Wynne Fleming, had on a loose dress and carried a container for arrows. The poor little Sophomore Representative, "Peachy" Doolan, "didn't know any better than to appear in white ducks for tennis." Dorothy Sorg, Chairman of Basket Ball, wore dark bloomers and tennis shoes. The appropriate costume for gymnastics is the regulation gym suit, according to the Chairman, Eleanor Bray. When going out for baseball one should wear white knickers, as Miss Mcintosh showed us. The Chairman of Tennis and President of the Riding Club appeared in the correct attire for riding. Her costume consisted of a loose-fitting coat with hat and riding crop. The Chairman of Outing wore knickers and carried such necessities as drinking cup, matches, etc.

"To be correct at Hollins one must appear in such costumes," Miss Patch said. She explained the aims and purpose of the Athletic Association as stated in the Hand Book.

"The idea of the Association is not only to keep up the standard of health on the campus by popularizing exercise, but its purpose has broadened also to making people fit for play as well as for work. After college, what?" she asked Miss Patch. "In these modern times women have more leisure and they, consequently, must know how to use it. We who are in college should learn to play games well, so that when we are out of college we can make proper use of our leisure time and enjoy it more."

Miss Patch then presented the head of the Physical Education Department, Miss Rastord, who said that one of the aims of the Association is to encourage all of the members to take part in some activity. "All can enjoy sport for its own sake, even though everyone can't make points. College is life itself in a phase. If we don't take advantage of our opportunities now we are apt to fall later. One aim of the Association is to develop and maintain a high standard of sportsmanship. One who doesn't show not only on the athletic field, but also in our normal social life, and that we will take out of college with us."

Dramatic Interludes are Presented by Granville

On Wednesday evening, October 15th, V. L. Granville, the distinguished English actor, perhaps the climax of the program in Dramatic Interludes, "a presentation in costume and make-up, of the principle characters from the drama of all time."

Before beginning his interpretations, Mr. Granville stated "that a knowledge of the dramatic literature of the ages is of the utmost importance, for it aids in the most important study, that of human nature. And that, moreover, it accomplishes yet another thing, for it gives us something to think about. He also declared that the theatre should not be considered merely a medium of entertainment, but also as a help in the study of life, for understanding the characters ranging from Prometheus to Abbe's Irish Rose."

Mr. Granville concluded with the quotation that "the purpose of acting is to hold the mirror up to nature."

The first group of personifications were from the dramatic literature of the Greeks to Shakespeare. His first part was that of Oedipus, from Oedipus Rex, by Sophocles. He represented the unhappy beggar king, when in a fit of despair over the tragedy fate has made of his life, he has blinded himself. The second interlude, as Erasistrus, from The Doctor; and in the last, Little Thomas, in Drampic of the man who always begs for his dinner.

The next personation, Faustus, from Marlowe's Faustus, showed the doctor just before his soul went to eternal damnation. The two characterizations from Shakespeare, that of Falstaff, from the Merry Wives of Windsor, and Richard, from Richard III, gave a keen insight into those two famous, but almost opposite, figures. The last part of the program included personations from Moliere to the present time.

As Harpagone, from the Mister, Moliere, Mr. Granville showed the miser in despair over the loss of his gold. As the inimitable Mrs. Malaprop, from Sheridan's The Rivals, as Francois Villon, and as Cynano de Bergerac, Mr. Granville gave striking personations, but the climax of the evening was when his feet were reached as Fedy, from Tolstoy's The Living Corpse, and as Svengali, from Trilby, by George du Maurier.

When is Tinker Day?

The long looked for rain has descended upon Hollins. The dust is quickly so when do we begin our march up lofty Tinker? Already there are whispers of Senior stunts. The Juniors say, confidently, "Friday is Tinker Day." The Sophomores, with the memory of last year's thrill still fresh in their minds, anxiously await it. And the Freshmen—well, they hold their breath in anticipation! Even the Faculty realize that Tinker Day will soon be here. Writings are assigned dubiously. Is it Friday? Time will tell.

THIRTY NATIONS ARE REPRESENTED AT I. C. S.

Four hundred student leaders from over thirty nations met at the Twelfth Annual Congress of the International Confederation of Students held at Brussels, Belgium, from August 12-26, 1930.

"The official American student delegation at Brussels was composed of Eleanor Wilson, Vice President of the N. S. F. A., Hollins College; Lynn Jack Rountree, University of California; Lewis Powell, Washington and Lee; Agnes Addison, Wellesley; Edith Lowenstein, Vanderbilt; and E. R. Murrow, President of N. S. F. A., Washington State College, leader of the American delegation. Several American students also attended the Congress as observers."

The N. S. F. A. News Service also reveals the fact that "an intense nationalistic and political atmosphere prevailed throughout the entire program". It has provided all Anglo-Saxon delegates with an excellent cross-section of south-European problems and discontent. It seemed at times that no possible student harmony could be forthcoming, and that many students were losing the birthright of their student generation; that is, free-thinking and open-minded consideration of international affairs in the promotion of a lasting peace. It is difficult to comprehend the deep-rooted hatred and misunderstanding even among students, which has arisen as a result of arbitrary boundaries established by the Versailles Treaty until one observes well-educated students, who are perfectly open-minded on most outstanding questions, tendering their feet and denouncing students of another nation as 'not only our personal enemies, but the enemies of our country, who will stop at nothing to secure our downfall.'"
Hollins Student Life, October 18, 1930

Hollins Student Life, October 18, 1930

Hollins Student Life, October 18, 1930

The editorial staff of Student Life reserves the right to withhold publication of any article which may not be in keeping with the purpose of the newspaper or which may not be for the interest of students generally.

THE HONOR SYSTEM

The first real test of getting together is over, class meetings for all classes will be held every half hour, every Monday and Thursday, in the north end of the student union. As a result of this plan, every student will have a chance to present a report on his work to the class, and the class will have a chance to discuss the reports.

The system is simple: every student will have a report card kept by his classmate. If a student is absent from class, he will not be excused for missing a test, unless he has a note from a doctor or the dean. The report card will be signed by the teacher and will be returned to the student the next day.

First, let us think seriously about the meaning of this system. Every member of the student body has solemnly promised to report to his fellow students on the progress he has made in his studies.

Second, let us think about the meaning of this system. Every student will be responsible for himself and for his work.

Third, let us think about the meaning of this system. Every student will be responsible for his own work and his own progress.

In this charming opera the loves of the poet, Hoffman, and his love for a mechanical girl, no matter what the conditions, and those that double reporting. Every member of the class was present and, except for the last one who arrived, the class was in perfect order.

Second, let us think about the meaning of this system. Every student will be responsible for himself and for his work.

Third, let us think about the meaning of this system. Every student will be responsible for his own work and his own progress.

In this charming opera the loves of the poet, Hoffman, and his love for a mechanical girl, no matter what the conditions, and those that double reporting. Every member of the class was present and, except for the last one who arrived, the class was in perfect order.

Second, let us think about the meaning of this system. Every student will be responsible for himself and for his work.

Third, let us think about the meaning of this system. Every student will be responsible for his own work and his own progress.
SOCIETY

Mrs. W. N. Burwell, of Parkersburg, West Virginia, recently visited her granddaughter, Eliza P. Lewis. Catherine Lewis spent last week-end at her home in Kensington, Maryland. Esther Shouppe had as her guest, Alice Neill, of Dallas, Texas, who is a student at Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Virginia.

Virginia Dunklee, '29, Virginia McClarmock, '29, and Anna Bostanian, '30, were on campus for a few days. Betty Robinson recently spent a week-end at her home in Wytheville, Virginia.

Betty Franklin spent last week-end at her home in Point Pleasant, West Virginia. Frances Lineberger went to her home in Belmont, North Carolina, last week.

Mrs. D. M. Colwell, of Akron, Ohio, and her two younger daughters visited Marjorie last week-end.

Mrs. B. W. Rawles, of Richmond, Virginia, spent last week-end at Hollins with her daughter, Adelaide.

Mrs. W. E. Reynolds, of Fairlawn, Ohio, was on campus visiting Mildred.

Reverend and Mrs. R. C. Montague, from Richmond, Virginia, visited their daughter, Harriet.

Mrs. A. R. Phillips, of Montclair, New Jersey, has been visiting Anne Elizabeth.

Mr. and Mrs. Cowperthwaite, of Summit, New Jersey, spent last week-end with Carol.

Mrs. W. J. Paschal, of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, visited her daughter, Lucille, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Raymond, of Montclair, New Jersey, were on campus visiting Virginia.

Dr. E. S. Purcell, of Louis, Virginia, spent last week-end with Emma.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Dyer, of Ruckston, Maryland, have been visiting their daughter, Mabel.

Mr. B. J. Slaughter, of Hopewell, Virginia, was with Margaret last week.

Margaret Stephens spent last week-end at her home in Martinsville, Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bernard are visiting Irene this week-end.

Beverly Chalker and Margaret Sockwell are in Lynchburg, Virginia, this week-end.

Mr. M. D. Turner made a historic pilgrimage to Blacksburg, Virginia, where he made a speech.

Dr. C. H. and Mrs. R. Waring, of Memphis, Tennessee, visited Betty last week-end.

The Rotary Club of Roanoke will entertain the daughters of the Rotarians at a banquet in town, October 23rd.

Rebecca Atkinson, Irene Bernard, Elizabeth Coleman, Virginia Egolf, Bess Rankin, Page Rudd and Betty Taylor attended the opening dances at V. M. I.

Evelyn Sale represented Hollins at the opening dances of the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Virginia.

Rosalie Hooper and Rose Mary Virden recently spent a week-end at V. P. I., Blacksburg, Virginia.

Catherine Witsehn and Nancy Lee Turner attended the dances at V. P. I. last week-end.

Sarah Lynch and Eleanor Weaver went to the dance at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, last week-end.

Leonora Alexander, Elizabeth Young and Louise Bowers are attending the opening dances at Hampden-Sydney, Hampden-Sydney, Virginia, this week-end.

Elizabeth Conway, Ruth Will and Frances Briggs ate at V. M. I. this week-end.

Miss V. M. I. Margaret Noting, Mrs. R. T. Irvine and Miss Dorothy Irvine, of Richmond, spent last week-end with Helen.

ALUMNAE NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. William Hall, of Memphis, the latter Martha Fitzgerald, '28, announce the birth of a son, William, Junior.

Katherine McClure, '28, was married in June to Peyton Took Anderson at her home in Macon, Georgia.

Dorothy Baldwin, '28, and Helen Bleueth, '29, traveled extensively in Europe this summer and later went to India.

Virginia Dunklee, '29, is visiting Marian Hull Smith and Marian Wolfe in Atlanta.

Harriett Bates, '29, is working in Richmond this year.

Mary Lou Mayo, '29, and Sally Barret, '29, traveled with Miss Parkinson's party through Europe this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Victor Becker announced the marriage of their daughter, Betty, to Mr. Joseph Sutton Steffan, on Saturday, October 4th, in Brookhaven, Mississippi.

Virginia McClarmock, '29, is teaching dramatics in the Greensboro Junior High.

E. Blount, '30, is studying medicine, with emphasis on the chemical side, at Tulane University.

Jane Williams, '30, spent several months recently in traveling in Europe with Alice Robinson, '29; she is studying violin in Germany.

Frances Stokley and Margaret White are teaching school in Norfolk.

Virginia Weldon Crocker, after a course at the University of Wisconsin summer school, is now teaching near Portsmouth.

Fannie Botsford, '30, is studying sculpture in Roanoke.

Esther Bonnet is teaching the fourth grade in Eagle Pass, Texas.

Margaret Baker, '30, has recently been elected Secretary of Girl Reserves in Junctionville.

Louise Harrison, '32, is training in Miss Ilman's School in Philadelphia.

Anne Slomoc, '32, while traveling out West last summer, visited Ruth Pruett, '32; Ruth is now studying nursery at the University of Missouri.

Three Hollins girls are now at William and Mary; Frances Gravett, Hemozie Darden and Katharine Spratley. Katharine is considered the most popular girl on campus.

Adelle Dix is studying at Washington University, St. Louis.

Elizabeth Platt is now at L. S. N.

Betty Lawrence is a student at Wells College, Aurora, New York.

Mrs. Elizabeth Todd Kinney, '24, and little daughter, Betty, visited Miss Sitter for a short time last week.

Germany's Minister of Education to be Heard

The N. S. F. A., in carrying out its policy of having a closer relationship and interest exist between the students of foreign countries and of America, has asked Doctor Karl Becker, Germany's Minister of Education, to address American students on October 24th.

Doctor Becker's talk will be presented over the Columbia Network at the regular N. S. F. A. hour. It is expected that he will be, as most enjoyable, as he has been such an intimate part of and so vitally interested in German student life.

DATE: Monday, October 27th.
TIME: 4:30-5:30 P. M.—E. S. T.
SPeaker: Doctor Karl Becker, Minister of Education, Germany.
SUBJECT: "The Crisis in Learning."

Last week the Debating Club held its first meeting, so we ought to soon be hearing some heated arguments on debatable subjects.

Did anyone notice the jubilee that took place among the B. M.'s not so long ago? They were celebrating the abolition of the hated practice card system.

What happened seventy-five years ago the ninth of October? Student Life regrets that it is unable to answer this question because of a certain promise that was made to a much loved person.

"And with all the knowledge we have learned at college, we’ll out do the Faculties!"

Well, one thing the Juniors don't lack is self-confidence.

The lovers of O'Neill should be very much thrilled with Strange Interlude, playing in Roanoke on Monday.

The first act of the year, last Saturday night, was a big success. Good dancers, good music, good supper, ergo, good time.

Won't it be fun to see our friends struggling to manipulate bassoons, clarinets, saxophones and oboes? Well, just wait till the new school orchestra gets into swing.

This year the stunts in the Little Theatre weren't given to propitiate the Sophs, but rather as a result of the obliging nature of the Freshmen.

Every Saturday the Riding Club has been sending out groups on picnics, and how marvelous they have been.

The Outing Club, too, has given a series of delightful picnics. The last was a supper hike.

Here's a vote of thanks to A. D. A., who has made it possible for girls to giggle over Life in the Keller.

What pains the athletic girl will have to take with her toilette now that she knows the costume must à la mode for each sport.

Don't be alarmed at the sight of flames on Tinker. It's only the Faculty cooking supper up there.

He: Joe's given up the idea of being a surgeon.
She: Why is that?
He: The dear boy discovered that it involved too much inside work.