NEW & IMPROVED: LIBRARY SIGNAGE

As you walk around the library this semester, you’ll probably notice a subtle, but important difference: we have new and improved signage.

This project began a year ago, when we embarked on a usability study of our entrance. Essentially, we went through a series of prompts with different groups of people to find out how they feel when entering the library. We were happy to learn that many people have positive feelings when they enter our building, but it was clear that we needed to do more to help people find their way around.

After many meetings and a lot of feedback, we updated our signage throughout the building. Here are a few notable changes:

- All four floors have large signs near the center of the floor to help you navigate to the most-used spaces.
- There are directories in front of each elevator to help you select the appropriate floor.
- An updated building directory is located in the foyer of the main entrance and at our ground floor elevator entrance.
- Many out of date or impractically placed signs were removed.

Questions or comments about the updated signs? Please contact Maryke Barber, Public Services Librarian, at mbarber@hollins.edu.

CHECK US OUT!

Did you know you can check out more than just books and films at the library? Here are a few things you might be surprised to learn are available at our Checkout Desk:

- Phone chargers (iPhone & Android)
- Laptop chargers (Apple & most PCs)
- Chromebooks
- Umbrellas
- Headphones
- Dungeons & Dragons, 5th edition
- Style Guides (MLA, Chicago, APA)

These are all considered high-use items and will have shortened checkout periods. The student worker at the Checkout Desk will tell you how long you have the item, and the time/date your item is due is always available by checking your library account (a link to your account is in top right corner of our homepage).
