Great Building Progress Made During Miss Matty's Presidency

MANY IMPROVEMENTS MADE IN CAMPUS EQUIPMENT OVER THE YEARS

Since "Miss Matty" took over the leadership of Hollins in 1901, many material changes have taken place on campus. After the turn of the century there came a large increase in buildings. Formerly the campus buildings were confined to the dormitories, dining room, chapel, and Curvin House. Rathsall was the first building to be constructed after "Miss Matty" came into office and the last to be built was her own residence, "Rathor." The chronological order of material changes in Rathsall is:

1901 Charles L. Cocke Memorial Library
1907 Miss Matty's residence
1908 Anna P. Pleasant's Memorial Infirmary
1910 Cocke and Turner Residences
1913 Pleasant (Science) Hall
1914 Dutchess Cottage (Occupied by President Randolph and the Janitors)
1922 Little Theatre
1924 Tayloe Gymnasium
1924 Press Hall
1929 Rathsall

The memorial garden, which has added much to the beauty of the campus, was landscaped and laid out during the years. The riding ring has recently been built behind the gymnastics and allowed a popular activity to take a leading place on campus. Tinker Teas House has also been instituted to answer the student's need for a place of refreshment.

V. I. P. A. Convention to Meet in Richmond October 27th and 28th

PROMINENT EDITOR WILL DELIVER KEYNOTE ADDRESS

With Dr. Douglas S. Freeman, editor of the Richmond News-Leader, as the principal speaker, the V. I. P. A. will hold its 1934 Convention at the University of Richmond on October 27th and 28th. This Annual Convention will be sponsored jointly by the University of Richmond Chapter, Pi Delta Epsilon, national journalistic fraternity, and the staff of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, the local body publication of Richmond College.

Dr. Freeman will be the keynote speaker of the convention. Plans now indicate that the meeting this fall will be one of the best ever offered to college journalists in Virginia. The first session will be open at the University of Richmond, in Maryland Hall, on Friday, October 27th, at 1 p.m. Following this, there will be individual discussion groups at 3 p.m. for newspaper, magazine, and annual business managers.

The formal meeting will be held Friday night with Dr. Freeman as the guest speaker. A social program will follow the awarding of cups to the winners in the different classes of publications.
