Hollins College
Great Interest Manifested in Round-Table Discussion

The students discussed the American Alumni Council Institute in the United States. Since Sunday, the group has been working on a modern study of international law, led by Ralph Earl, on the other hand, who is completing his work on the stage painting. The production will be in charge of a famous painter, Mrs. Frenke, with the assistance of a range of artists from the college. The production will be presented in the college auditorium.

Cargoes Elects Michaels as Editor

Louie Brown Michaels, of Greenbrier, North Carolina, was elected editor of Cargoes, the Hollins literary magazine, by the editorial staff at a meeting held Tuesday night, April 13. The other members of the staff will be announced in the next two weeks.

Miss Harriet Tyss Will Be at Hollins Friday

Miss Harriet Tyss, of Virginia, will be a guest at Hollins College on Friday, April 24. She will speak to the Student body on the subject of "The Student Life of 1938 as Student Life Head"

Will Assume New Duties With Next Issue

The Student Life staff of 1938 will be headed by Mary Ellis Garber, of Winston-Salem, N. C. Although she has been an officially a staff member for only two years, Miss Garber really began work on the newspaper during her freshman year, and has continued ever since. During her sophomore year, she was News Editor for Student Life and Sophomore representative to the Athletic Board. This year she has been President of the Athletic Board, and has also been in charge of Sports Slants, the athletic column in the paper. Miss Garber has gained experience in working on a daily newspaper, a place which she expects to follow this summer. Her duties will begin with the next issue of Student Life, which will be distributed on May 5.

Miss Williams Discusses Exhibit of American Art

Miss Mary F. Williams, instructor in the Art Department of the College, will give another of the galletry talks under the title "The Art of the American Only Because It Was Done in America," this week. The paintings will be of International Art, and the members of the Institute have arranged to meet with other clubs, in the majority of cases, have not yet been announced. The Executive Council is complete, and the President of the Dramatic Board has announced the cast of "The Tempest." The play, assisted by Mary Louise Ware, student editor of the college newspaper, has been in charge of the group for the past four years. It is as successful as it now promises to be presented this year as the dramatic production of the year 1937-38, as the members of the cast have been selected by recent Hollins graduates, to serve as an associate editor for the department of Library Work, and to act as Ringmaster, assisted by Mary Dorothy Snedaker, of Greensboro, North Carolina, was elected editor of Cargoes, the Hollins literary magazine, by the editorial staff at a meeting held Tuesday night, April 13. The other members of the staff will be announced in the next two weeks.

The members of the Music Association will have as their officers: President, Miss Caroline Stephen Vice President, Elinor West Secretary-Treasurer. Betty West Reporters, Miss Janet White Song Leader, Rebecca Whitehouse and Ann McGinley. The Judging will be by the students, who will be the judges of the American Art," and as editorials will be on American Art, is particularly interesting, because these papers are in pioneering America. This work, showing European training and technique, can be called American only because it was done in America. The Portrait of William Cargoes, or "The Art of the American Only Because It Was Done in America," this week. The paintings will be of International Art, and the members of the Institute have arranged to meet with other clubs, in the majority of cases, have not yet been announced. With this issue of The Hollins Student Life, our staff members are busy on the last issue of the year, as the last two years of the college will be ended by the staff's work. STUDENT FORUM

WHICH PATH DO YOU CHOOSE?

Hollins students who are faced with a decision on the path they wish to take should consider the options carefully. There are many paths to choose from, but it is important to choose the path that is right for you. Whether you choose to continue your education or enter the workforce, it is important to make a decision that will set you up for success.

The path of education can be rewarding and fulfilling. It can provide you with the skills and knowledge you need to succeed in your chosen field. However, it is important to consider the cost of education and the time it will take to complete your degree.

The path of entering the workforce may also be a good option. It can provide you with valuable work experience and the opportunity to learn from real-world situations. However, it is important to consider the competition for jobs and the potential for advancement.

In the end, the decision of which path to take is up to you. It is important to consider your goals, your interests, and your values when making this decision. You should also consider the advice of others and seek guidance from professionals in the field.

When it comes to making a decision, it is important to remember that there is no right or wrong answer. The most important thing is to choose the path that is best for you and that will lead you to success.

The Hollins Student Life team wishes you all the best in your future endeavors. We hope that you will continue to be a part of the Hollins community for many years to come.

SMALL WORLD

Why Don't You Read?

The fact is that many people do not enjoy reading. Some people may find it tedious, while others may find it difficult to concentrate. However, reading can be a valuable way to learn and to improve your understanding of the world.

Reading can be a relaxing way to pass the time. It can be a way to escape from the stresses of daily life and to immerse yourself in a different world. Reading can also be a way to improve your vocabulary and to learn new ideas.

In conclusion, reading is a valuable activity that can be enjoyed by people of all ages. It is important to remember that reading is not a requirement, but it can be a rewarding way to spend your time.

The Editor of an American

GALVANIZE M. FRIEDLANDER

An American, raised in America, schooled in America, has now taken root here. He is new to the land, born to a history that is his own, and with only a knowledge of the culture he has been exposed to. This is his story. An American. Raised in America, schooled in America. A story of new beginnings and old. It is a story of change, a story of struggle and triumph.

SPORT SLANTS

Ho-hum! and another column to write. There isn't much more to say concerning the star tennis player whose name has been bandied about before. We all must be sure to get to the ring Saturday to view our worthy riders' show. They have been practically and really endeavoring to put on a wonderful show which we are sure will be. It's no easy task to put the fiery colts through their paces. This we should all realize, and regard the efforts of the riders with our presence, at least.

It took a while for the mermaids to sign on Martha Pearce's yellow sheet, but to date there are thirty-two swimmers entered for the meet—a goodly number at any rate. No doubt, Martha's fervent pleadings had its results. In contrast, we have forgotten, the date for the meet is May 6, and one practice a week is required of all entrants.

The terms tournaments are progressing, despite the frequent showers. In the Class B tournament, Louise Daniels defeated Hardee Bell in the finals, while with the Individual, Peggy Lee, Sadie Rice, and Aubrey Hawley have won their first matches. Kate Spruill's certainty is at it, trying to get the matches played. Don't we love to put things off!

Archery is quite popular this year, and the participants in the tournament are very expert when it comes to practice. We didn't realize the number of feminine "William Tell's" in our midst.

And so, we come again to the subject of baseball. After all, we are not professionals, and most of us just learning to play don't play get discouraged with our efforts. What with the rain and the number of players in other activities, there hasn't been much real opportunity for real practice. All of who we have any handwriting at all toward the sport, be sure and come out to practice. There should be some hidden talent around. We may not all be Clarksons and Whiteheads, but if we can at least try. And remember to come dressed for as many sports—wearing gym suits. A Dry Cleaning Service You Will Like

Mr. Peck Gives Slides to Art Department

The Art Department has recently received about sixty slides from Mr. Edward S. Peck, who headed that Department for the session 1934-35. This gift came as a surprise, not only to the Art Department, but to the students who will be using them. Included in this collection are slides from the following periods: Ancient, Medieval, Renaissance, Northern Painting and Modern. Most of the slides are new, and they remain unused. We are taking this opportunity to express to Mr. Peck the appreciation of the student body for this gift. Especially do we appreciate the fact that Mr. Peck, who was a member of the art faculty at Wooster College, in Ohio, has not forgotten his association with Hollins.

The Collegiate World

When a professor gets downright impatient, you may be certain that he has exhausted all his resources. At least that was the situation of Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, professor of zoology at the University of Kentucky.

It all happened when too many students signed up for a class in herpetology in herdsy. Something had to be done, felt Dr. Funkhouser, so he made this announcement at his first class meeting.

"I warn you students at the beginning that I'm a lorrying lecturer. This class is made up of herpetologists in herdsy. The first half of the course is very dry and technical—with many scientific names. The second half of the course is very dry and technical. The student examinations are very unsatisfactory. Most of you won't be able to see the board, and diagrams on the board are an important part of all my lectures. If you're not satisfied, there is too late for you now."

Interpreting creaking of seats as weakening, the professor continued much encouraged.

"The grades are based entirely upon the hard examination at the end of the course. And you join or swim. I have no mercy. Now do I see any volunteers who would be willing to drop the course?"

No one stirred from his seat.

How many things a woman can carry in her purse has long been a subject of conversation among college men. Now the males at the University of Wisconsin have a Ripley addition to this type of silliness.

It seems that a cool lost her handbag at one of the night clubs outside of Madison. She didn't notice the loss until returning to her sorority house after the date.

Instead of fanning around and driving out to the club the next day, she decided to wait until the following Saturday, when she had a date to go there again.

At the cheekroom, she asked if anyone had found her bag. Several were brought out, and she identified her belongings by the contents.

"Why, yes," answered the coed, "mine has a pair of pajamas in it."

Miss Smith, a member of next year's Senior Class, has always taken an active interest in the literary work on campus, having served since her Sophomore year on the staff of the Hollins. This year she directed the activities of the Writer's Club, and has been one of the leaders of the poetry group led by Mr. Leigh. As long as she has been at Hollins she has maintained a Dean's List average in academic work and has also worked extra-curricula lines in athletics and dramatics.
