Hollins College
Quartet Opens Fall Concerts at Formal Convocation

The first in a series of three concerts to be presented at Hollins College this season will be given at 8 o'clock on Thursday, October 16, by the Belgian Flute-Singing Quartet.

This group is composed of G. Mom- berts, pianist; Albert Ribaut, violinist; C. Foidart, violin, and J. Witzpas, cellist.

Several well known composers have dedicated works to the quartet, among them Alexander Tansman, whose Quintet, premiere to be given at the concert, will be played by Miss Michael Tansman, whose first performance will be given at 2 o'clock on Thursday.

The three concerts will be given at 8 o'clock, 2 o'clock on Thursday and again in the afternoon at 4 o'clock.

IT AIN'T GONNA RAIN NO MORE, NO MORE

It's time we start comptulitions. We can't have no rainin'.

While the hills are down around us,

You can take all you want.

This is the way we want it.

Darned if I don't want it.

Because they're not ownin',

When they do want it, they can't have it.

No one will be expelled for breaking them, but all rules are important to the exalted feeling at not being freshmen any longer. We're system from now on.

The Hollins College of Virginia, 1941, is 100% improved. Under the management of Mrs. Mary Tinker of Tinker House, Hollins is now 100% better. Under the management of Miss Evreux, the home for the last five years, Hollins had many faults and many improvements to be desired.

One woman's management is another woman's management.

Texas Festival Attracts Hollins

The Roos Festival at Tyler, Texas, took place last week. The festival was sponsored by the first three professors from Hollins, Mary Jane Bell, Rebecca C. Borden, and Ogden Hall. They arrived at Tyler on Thursday afternoon, March 17, and stayed until Monday. Arriving in Tyler in the early afternoon, they did not see much of the city, but were interested in the people they met. After their arrival, they went to the Hotel Hollins, where they stayed all day on the 17th.

The festival was held at the University of Texas, where all the professors were present. They were welcomed by the president of the University, who gave them a brief talk on the history and development of the University. The professors then went to the auditorium, where they were entertained by the students of the University. After the performance, they went to the Hotel Hollins, where they stayed all night.

The festival was held on Saturday and Sunday, March 18 and 19. The professors were entertained by the students of the University, who gave them a brief talk on the history and development of the University. The professors then went to the auditorium, where they were entertained by the students of the University. After the performance, they went to the Hotel Hollins, where they stayed all night.

The festival was held on Monday, March 20. The professors were entertained by the students of the University, who gave them a brief talk on the history and development of the University. The professors then went to the auditorium, where they were entertained by the students of the University. After the performance, they went to the Hotel Hollins, where they stayed all night.

The festival was held on Tuesday, March 21. The professors were entertained by the students of the University, who gave them a brief talk on the history and development of the University. The professors then went to the auditorium, where they were entertained by the students of the University. After the performance, they went to the Hotel Hollins, where they stayed all night.

The festival was held on Wednesday, March 22. The professors were entertained by the students of the University, who gave them a brief talk on the history and development of the University. The professors then went to the auditorium, where they were entertained by the students of the University. After the performance, they went to the Hotel Hollins, where they stayed all night.

The festival was held on Thursday, March 23. The professors were entertained by the students of the University, who gave them a brief talk on the history and development of the University. The professors then went to the auditorium, where they were entertained by the students of the University. After the performance, they went to the Hotel Hollins, where they stayed all night.

The festival was held on Friday, March 24. The professors were entertained by the students of the University, who gave them a brief talk on the history and development of the University. The professors then went to the auditorium, where they were entertained by the students of the University. After the performance, they went to the Hotel Hollins, where they stayed all night.

The festival was held on Saturday, March 25. The professors were entertained by the students of the University, who gave them a brief talk on the history and development of the University. The professors then went to the auditorium, where they were entertained by the students of the University. After the performance, they went to the Hotel Hollins, where they stayed all night.

The festival was held on Sunday, March 26. The professors were entertained by the students of the University, who gave them a brief talk on the history and development of the University. The Students Discuss Social Office Policy

This week-end, October 17th-19th, V. M. I. will have its annual homecoming. All hotel reservations have been taken since the middle of last summer and the Social Office is unable to obtain reservations for any girls wishing to stay overnight. This means that all Hollins girls must return to the campus after the game, missing the big dance that evening.
It has been suggested that Hollins adopt the system used by other girls schools, that of chartering a special bus which would bring the girls back to school after the dance as 'cases number so this when overnight accommodations are available. The students overwhelmingly favor this plan as can be seen by their comments:

Jeanie Albee, '44—I certainly do think that we should charter a bus when accommodations for overnight are not available. I'm sure under the circumstances, other schools will be doing something to enable their girls to stay for the dance, so why shouldn't Hollins?

Bunny Roger, '45—Home-comings at ye ole Institute are just so—unless they are blessed with Hollins girls' presence.
Please let's charter a bus so that we can represent Holl Col at the dance. It wouldn't be too lost to come home.

Virginia Harris, '44—I don't see why we shouldn't have our own bus like so many other schools do. Besides, why don't they look into some of the boarding houses for rooms, because they are very well chartered out, and in many ways come to the hotels.

Anna Folke, '42—It can't be a very dangerous thing because they would not let Hollins girls to go. The idea of having a bus bring the girls back after the dance sounds good.

Evelyn Anderson, '42—I think that the girls should be allowed to come back to Hollins after the dance by bus. The of-mentioned traffic danger shouldn't be too dangerous after the dance, for most of the traffic be off the buses by then.

Marvin Gaye Courtenay, '44—Unless the traffic is known to be especially heavy at the time we'd be returning, I don't see whether we couldn't have a special bus. If, however, the highways will be dangerous at week-end, I think that the Social Office is perfectly justified in its refusal.

Lily May MacLemore, '45—Just be-because reservations aren't available. I don't see why the girls should be deprived of the dance. What I don't see is why Hollins didn't reserve the number of girls making and go making reservations last year, for any that weren't used certainly would have been grabbed up, even at this date.

Virginia Davenport, '44—I can readily understand the Social Office's reasons for opposing staying over to the dance next week-end and returning in a special bus, but we've been allowed to return after dances, before Ring Figure, for instance, and traffic won't be at all heavy on the road after 12 o'clock. Another reason given that the returning alumni wouldn't be interested enough in young girls at the dance to warrant such a measure is rather absurd. If that were true, then why were we asked?

Louise Labranse, '43—Many girls have been looking forward to this big occasion for a long time and since the Social Office was unable to get reservations, certainly it should make some plan enabling the girls to go. The idea of having a bus bring the girls back after the dance sounds good.
