CONVENIENT SEARCH WITH LIBRARY TOOLBAR

The new Hollins LibX Toolbar is a toolbar for the Firefox browser that provides a quick and convenient way to search the library's online catalog for books, films and more. Download this free toolbar to:

- Search our catalog directly, using the window in the toolbar; or
- Highlight any title, name or keyword on a webpage and search it with a quick right-click; or
- Search via Google Scholar to get to full-text articles in databases such as EbscoHost and JSTOR!

You can get your Hollins LibX Toolbar for Firefox, complete with instructions, via the library web site or direct from <http://libx.org/editions/download.php?edition=EF9EDE36>. Happy searching!

NOTE: if you have not used the Firefox web browser before, it is easy and works just like Microsoft's IE. You can download and start using it (in less than five minutes!) from www.mozilla.com. We can help: call the library at 362-7465.

MEET SARA GERES

We're very pleased to announce that Sara Geres ('07) has joined the library staff as Evening Circulation and Reserves Coordinator. Sara, who currently lives in Salem, also works at Bread Craft and is the reason the library staff will all soon need new (larger) clothes. Her favorite authors are Carl Phillips, Pablo Neruda, and Beverly Cleary, and her goal is to one day hike the Appalachian Trail with a small dog. But first, she will be taking her brand-new degree in Environmental Sociology to do forestry work for the Peace Corps in South America in the spring - so come by and welcome her back to campus while you have the chance!

...the number of computers that are available in the library for you. Need a quiet space to work? Check out our newest lab: the Instruction Room, on the second floor at the Chapel end of the building, is now open with 10 more computers!

Stressed ? Assignment due ? Don't despair...the library offers research appointments. A subject expert librarian will help you find the best information on your topic. Call 362-7465 or email askref@hollins.edu, right now!
